

Carnival Win Jinx in SYL?

The South Yosemite League team winning the fourth annual Football Carnival Friday night at Memorial Stadium will be trying to break a regular-season jinx in the grid campaign to follow.

In the three years that the Carnival has been in existence, the team winning this event hasn't gone on to win the South Yosemite League championship.

South High was victorious in the first Carnival, but Bakersfield High went on to the SYL title. The Rebels repeated as Carnival winners two years ago, but Foothill came out ahead in the SYL championship chase. East Bakersfield was last year's Carnival crown-wearer, but when the league race was over, it was North High who came out on top.

In addition to being a fund-raising event for the PTA, the Carnival also serves as a chance for the high school coaches to get a look at all of their boys under game-type conditions before they get down to championship play.

Pre-game activity will get under way at 7 o'clock Friday night with the first game between Bakersfield and Foothill slated to start at 7:30. Foothill takes on West in the second 15-minute game with the Vikings and Drillers meeting in the third contest.

There will be a break at this point to allow the Carnival queens from each of the six participating schools to be introduced to the crowd.

The fourth contest will send North against South, to be followed by a match between the Rebels and East. The final game will pit North against the Blades.

All money raised from the Carnival goes into the PTA scholarship fund. Tickets may be purchased at the high schools at 50 cents for junior college, high school and elementary school students. Adults can also buy their tickets at the schools for $1.25.

There will be a ticket sale at the stadium the night of the game for $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for children 14 years and under.

The Carnival has been a financial success with 13,874 attending last year's game. With West joining the league this season, an even larger crowd can be expected Friday night.

MR. THERON L. McCUEN
District Superintendent

District Superintendent Theron L. McCuen of the Kern County Union High School District is a staunch and enthusiastic friend of interscholastic athletics.

A native-born Californian, he played football, basketball and baseball at Ione High School. He earned his A.B. degree at Stanford University and his Master of Arts degree there a year later.

From 1929 to 1936 Mr. McCuen taught Engineering Drawing and Mathematics at Bakersfield High School and Bakersfield College. In 1936 he became Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Business Affairs of the Kern County Union High School and Junior College District. In 1945 he was appointed District Superintendent.

The Kern Joint Junior College District, which operates Bakersfield and Porterville Colleges, was established in 1961, and he has served as Superintendent of both districts since then.

As District Superintendent, Mr. McCuen has spearheaded the planning and construction of the Bakersfield College campus as well as Arvin, North, South, Foothill, and West High Schools, the relocation of Burroughs and Kern Valley High Schools and additions to Bakersfield, East Bakersfield, McFarland and Shafter High School plants.

In all of these operations, facilities for the development of healthy bodies as well as sound minds were included on each campus, including the much-used Memorial Stadium at Bakersfield College.

Mr. McCuen is a recognized leader in educational circles. In 1961 he was president of the California Association of School Administrators and has participated on educational programs and conferences of national scope. He has recognized the values of participation in interscholastic athletics.

MR. THERON S. TABER, JR.
Deputy Superintendent

A native of Texas, he played football at Abilene High School prior to attending Texas A and M. He earned his A.B. degree at Stanford University in engineering and mathematics, where he also took his Master of Arts degree in mathematics.

In 1928 Mr. Taber became an instructor at Bakersfield College. From 1939 to 1942 he was Dean of Men, and also for a time was Director of Athletics. He was the first chairman of the college engineering and mathematics department.

After service as an officer in the Navy during World War II, 1942-45, Mr. Taber was named Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Business Affairs of the Kern County Union High School and Junior College District in 1945. In 1951 he became Deputy Superintendent.

With the formation of the Kern Joint Junior College District in 1961, he has served both the high school and junior college districts as Deputy Superintendent.

He has had responsibilities of serving in a liaison capacity between the Districts and architects and contractors in the construction of Memorial Stadium at Bakersfield College as well as athletic facilities in high schools of the District built since 1945. There have been several.

Mr. Taber has accepted responsibilities in the civic life of the community and presently is Vice President in Charge of Finance, Southern Sierra Boy Scout Council.

PREP GRID CARNIVAL ONLY TWO DAYS AWAY

The football season gets under way on Friday evening at Memorial Stadium at 7:00 when teams from Bakersfield, East, Foothill, North, South and West collide in the fourth annual football carnival.

The Drillers, Blades, Trojans, Stars, Rebels, and Vikings each will play two different opponents in periods of 15 minutes playing time with the overall winner determined by a modified scoring plan. Besides the normal scoring system, a team can gain one point for each first down and one point when the ball changes teams.

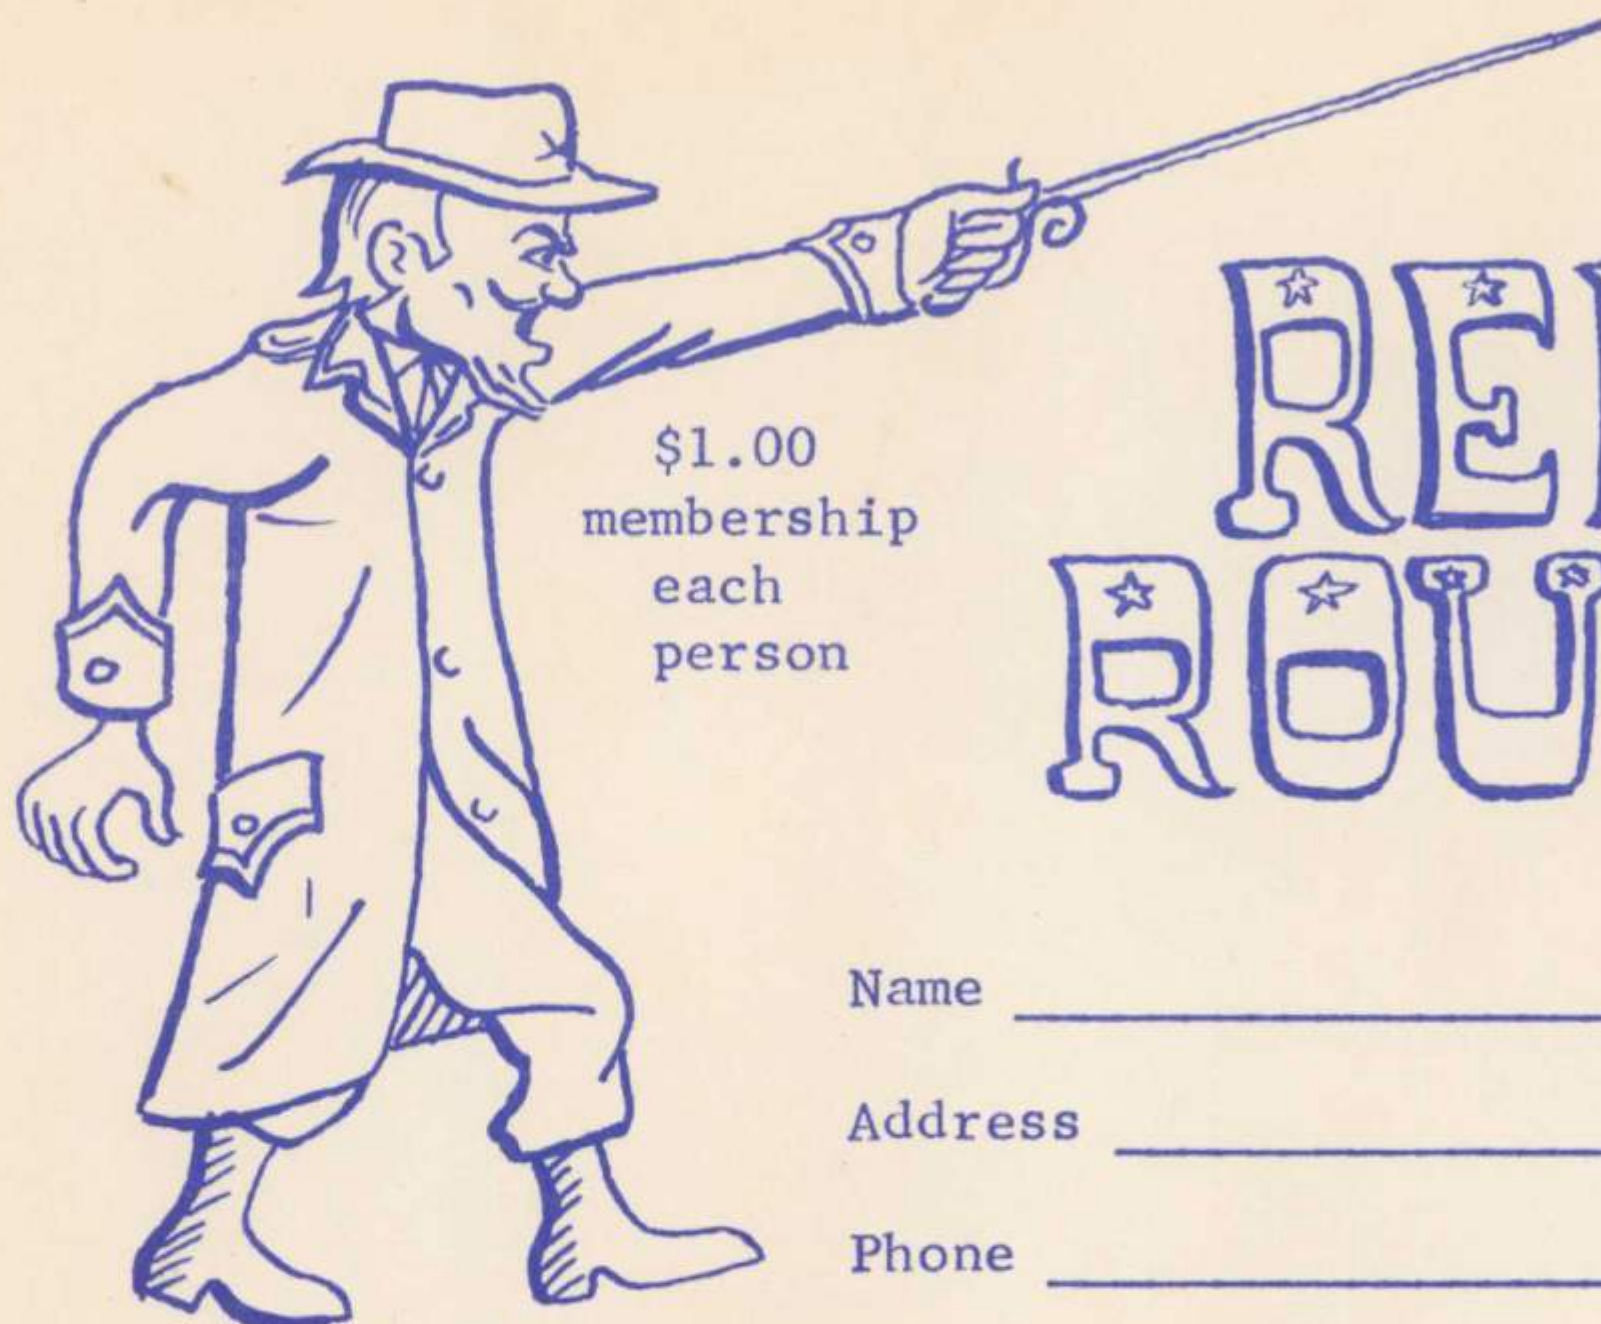

The Carnival, originated here in 1964, not only affords an opportunity for the fans to have a look at the potential power of each of the local schools, but is a proven fund-raising venture for the competing high schools and their respective PTA units, as each student body and PTA are allowed to keep the pre-game sales in their treasuries.

The schedule calls for action between Bakersfield and Foothill, Foothill and West, West and Bakersfield, North and South, South and East, and East and North.

Veteran coaches Paul Briggs of the Drillers, Ned Permenter of the Trojans, Jordan (Turk) Eliades of the Stars and Larry Shannon of the Blades and Bert joined by newcomers Hollis Lafond of the Rebels will be Rowe, whose Vikings are moving into the tough South Yosemite League for the first time.

This year's Carnival is headed by general chairman Jack Hilton of North High.

REBEL RAMBLINGS

December 6, 1967

I want to take this opportunity to wish everyone a Happy Holiday Season from all the South High Rebel Rousers. Those who have joined Rebel Rousers to help on student projects will be called upon during January to begin these projects. The purpose of Rebel Rousers is to actively help students in various capacities. It takes just a little time; surely each of you has an hour or two to spare sometime during the year. If you haven't already joined, please let us know. Many thanks to those who have joined! Our program is slow starting but we must feel our way. New programs always have "bugs" and we've had our share. We appreciate your patience. We'll all be at the Christmas program Monday night. Won't you join us?

Sincerely,
Bob Hamilton

S.O.S.! LOST -- 1500 Rebel Rouser applications sent to parents in October. Did we miss you? The envelope and letter you received were the ONLY membership applications sent this year. The Rebel Rousers and P.T.A. form one unit at South High. If you haven't received your application or have misplaced it, please call the membership chairman, Mrs. Sheehy, at 831-8307.

The program for Christmas will begin at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, December 11. Parents and friends are invited to an evening of Christmas music in the Lecture Center. Providing the music will be the Orchestra, Choir, Glee Club and Double Trio. Immediately following this program the audience will join a caroling parade from the Lecture Center to the Cafeteria where Santa Claus will greet the little ones. Punch, coffee, and cookies will be served.

CONGRATULATIONS: The parents of students in the South High attendance area are to be congratulated for voting a successful bond issue. This assures an orderly building program to house students in our area for the next five years.

Parent support of their students in school affairs is an essential part of helping students grow. You are always welcome at South High events!

Christmas Musical Is SHS Gift

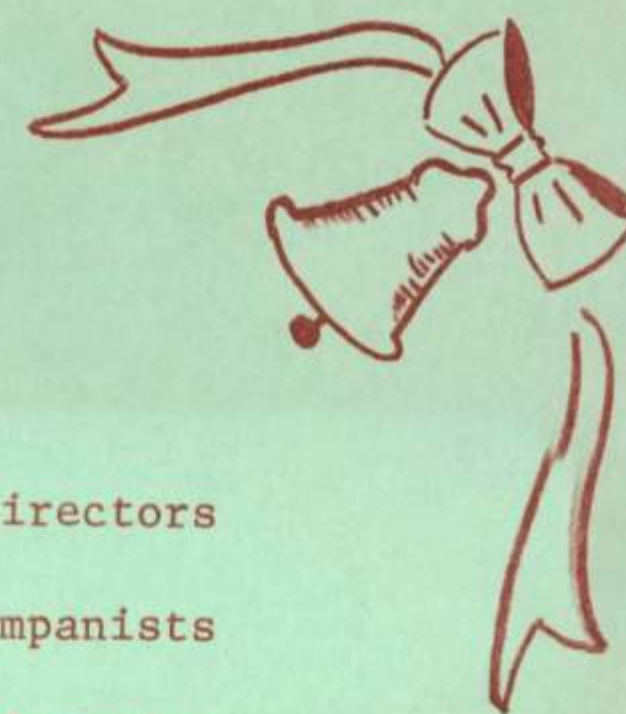

South High School orchestra, choir, glee club and double trio will join in presenting a musical Christmas gift when SHS PTA meets Monday at 7 p.m. in the Lecture Center. At the close of the presentation, the audience will be invited to join a caroling parade from the auditorium to the cafeteria where Santa Claus will greet younger brothers and sisters of South students and refreshments will be served.

Robert Hamilton, PTA president, reports the unit is in the process of developing a new parent-participation group to be known as the Rebel Rousers. Its aim is to enlist parents in helping students in some concrete manner, he said, and to keep avenues of communication open, through information, between adults and young people. "We feel," Hamilton said, "that well informed parents provide a climate for better students, better schools and a better community."

Parent help is being solicited for various school events, as student activity chaperones, teachers' aides and supporting the fine arts program. Hamilton said Rebel Rousers also hope to bolster scholarship funds.

Membership is $1, and with a card, members will be able to attend certain functions without further charge, the president said.

Parents or other interested adults who have not received an application may obtain one at the high school office or by calling Hamilton at TE 1-0438.

'Follies' Tomorrow

Curtain time for the second annual South High School "Parent-Faculty Follies" is tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Lecture Center, Robert Hamilton, spokesman for the sponsoring Rebel Rousers, said today.

"The best adult talent on and off campus has been drafted for the show," Hamilton said, "with Mrs. Nello Foxx starring and Don Soelberg as master of ceremonies."

Highlights of the show are expected to be the all-male ballet company presenting "The Dieing Swan," the Campus Cuties, the Dixie Dollies and the Rick Davis Combo.

Proceeds of the follies will be used to support the four annual banquets honoring students for their work in school posts and campus activities. Rebel Rousers is the adult group engaged in fund-raising to support school activities, Hamilton said.

Tickets may be obtained on campus, from the Rebel Rousers or at the door.

Film, Talk on LSD

South High School Rebel Rousers parent group has arranged a showing of the film, "LSD: Insight or Insanity," tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the school lecture center, and is inviting teenagers and adults to attend. Dr. Price Kirkpatrick will conduct a question and answer period following the film.

"Are you able to answer the questions your teenagers ask about drugs? Every adult should be concerned and informed on the drug problems confronting us," said Robert Hamilton, a spokesman for the parent group.

May Is Banquet Time at SH

The month of May usually is considered a month of blossoms and balmy breezes, but on the South High campus it usually means food. Four banquets, for example, are planned during the month to honor more than 500 students.

Three of the banquets are sponsored by the school PTA organization, working in conjunction with the student body. They are the cultural awards banquet, slated for tomorrow; the honor seal banquet, set for May 6 and the spring sports banquet, scheduled for May 28.

The fourth banquet, slated for May 21, is the traditional student body banquet, and it is sponsored solely by the student body organization.

All four banquets will be held in the school cafeteria.

The cultural awards banquet recognizes members of the choir, art, newspaper, yearbook, drama, speech, band and orchestral groups. Master of ceremonies this spring will be art instructor Robert Douglas.

The honor seal banquet recognizes students who have been on the honor roll three out of the four possible nine-weeks grading period. Recipients will be presented gold seals at the banquet. Principal Dr. Grant W. Jensen will act as master of ceremonies.

Student body officers will preside at the student body banquet, while coaches will share master of ceremonies duties at the spring sports banquet.

Parents are invited to attend these banquets, according to director of student activities Ronald Fontaine, but tickets must be purchased in advance of the affair.

Faith in Self Needed, South Graduates Told

"People who lack faith in themselves seldom do anything and consequently accomplish nothing. One must have faith and believe in himself."

This was the advice given South High School's 1968 graduating seniors by Bishop Lawrence Taylor of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. He spoke at the school's ninth annual baccalaureate services Sunday afternoon in Harvey Auditorium.

"You make the choice," Bishop Taylor said. "You can either say 'I can't do anything,' or you can say 'There isn't anything I can't do.'"

Arthur Hayes, a member of the graduating class, gave the invocation while Bishop Taylor gave the benediction. Jeff Burns, senior class president, welcomed parents and guests.

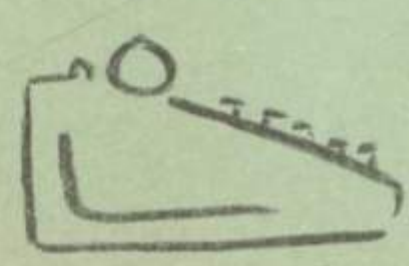

Professional and recessional music was played by the school orchestra. Several selections were sung by the advanced girls glee and the a capella choir. Graduates and visitors joined in singing the hymn, "God of Our Fathers."

The South High Parent-Teachers' Association was host at a tea following the services, held in the elm grove near the auditorium.

Student chairmen of the baccalaureate program were Bobbie Deschwanden and Janet Ward.

Commencement exercises will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday in the South High stadium.

WHAT ABILITIES ARE MEASURED BY THE DAT?
WHAT DO TEST SCORES MEAN FOR YOU?

In this pamphlet we cannot present all you need to know. The Manual for the DAT, can help you better understand what your test results show.

DIFFERENTIAL ABILITY TESTS

Each test is first described in terms of the ability measured. Then follow some suggestions about the meaning of high, average, and low scores. Any occupations mentioned in these paragraphs are examples NOT PRESENTED TO SUGGEST THE CHOICE OF A CAREER.

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

The world of work is made up of many different kinds of jobs. The careers mentioned below are only illustrations. Among people in any career -- say, carpenter, electrician, or engineer -- there is a considerable range of competence; no one can tell you the exact amount of test scores necessary to enter a field of work. This means that colleges vary in their requirements. Some colleges will be closed to you unless you rank in the upper tenth on these test scores; other colleges have different policies and a lower than average score on these tests would not close the door to you. The world of work is complex! Your attitude test scores can help you think better about your career and the characteristics needed to enter it. By knowing helping you understand yourself better you can make a more intelligent choice of a career.

WHAT ABILITIES ARE MEASURED BY THE DAT?
WHAT DO TEST SCORES MEAN FOR YOU?

In this small pamphlet we cannot present all you need to know about your DAT scores. Your counselor, who has studied the Manual for the DAT, can help you better understand what your test results show.

Each test is first described in terms of the ability measured. Then follow some suggestions about the meaning of high, average, and low scores. Any occupations mentioned in these paragraphs are examples NOT prescriptions. Remember these two things about the world of work:

There are thousands of different kinds of jobs. The careers mentioned below are only illustrations.

Among people in any career -- say, carpenters, secretaries, or engineers -- there is a considerable range of competence; so no one can tell you the exact minimum test scores necessary to enter a field of work.

Remember, too, that colleges vary in their requirements. Some colleges will be closed to you unless you rank in the upper tenth on these test scores; other colleges have different policies and a lower than average score on these tests would not close the door.

The world of work is complex! Your aptitude test scores can help you think better about your career and the educational steps needed to enter it, by helping you understand yourself better.

ABOUT THE DIFFERENTIAL APTITUDE TESTS.....

VERBAL REASONING -- How well can you understand ideas expressed in words?
How clearly can you think and reason with words?

Verbal reasoning is important in all academic and non-academic subjects in high school. Students who score average or better should seriously consider college; those well up in the top quarter may consider the highly selective colleges.

Students not planning for college who have VR as the peak of their profile should consider preparing for such verbal occupations as salesman, credit manager, order taker, or other such jobs in which verbal reasoning and understanding are essential.

Persons who do poorly on the Verbal Reasoning test should perhaps plan on going into some work that will call for less verbal ability.

NUMERICAL ABILITY - How well do you understand ideas expressed in numbers?
How clearly can you think and reason with numbers?

Numerical ability is especially important in such high school subjects as mathematics, physics, and chemistry.

Students who do well on this test are likely to do well in the arithmetic and measuring so common in factories, service shops, and stores.

Numerical ability is also useful in technical careers not requiring a college degree. A score in the second or third quarter on this test suggests looking at technical training programs either in companies or in training institutes for trades and crafts.

PERCENTILES

PERCENTILES

PERCENTILES

The numbers that tell how well you did on each test are in the row marked "Percentiles". Your percentile tells where you rank on a test in comparison with boys and girls in your grade.

Think of "percentile" as meaning "per cent of people." In your case the people are boys and girls in your grade in many schools across the country. If your percentile score on one test is 80, you are at the top of 80 per cent of the group - only 20 per cent made higher scores than you. If you scored in the 25th percentile, this would mean that about 75 per cent of the group did better than you. Thus a percentile rank always indicates your relative standing among a theoretical 100 persons representing a large group.

For each test make a heavy short line across the column at the level which corresponds to your percentile rank on that test. Black in the columns up to or down to the 50-line from the short line you have just made. The vertical bars on your profile show the strength of your tested aptitude, up or down from the middle student of your grade.

Numerical ability is useful in such jobs as lab assistants, bookkeeper, foreman, or shipping clerk. Many of the jobs in the skilled trades require considerable numerical ability.

VR + NA - A MEASURE OF SCHOLASTIC ABILITY

Your combined score on these two tests provide a good estimate of your scholastic aptitude -- your ability to complete the college preparatory courses in your school and to succeed in college.

In general, anyone with a rating in the upper quarter (75th percentile or better) should consider himself capable of performing well in college. A second quarter rating on these two tests also indicates good college potential. Whether students ranking in the third and fourth quarters should enter regular college programs is arguable but these students might find it practical and satisfying to enter a one or two year junior college program.

ABSTRACT REASONING - How well do you understand ideas which are not presented in words or numbers? How well do you think out problems even when there are no words to guide you?

The Abstract Reasoning test measures how easily and clearly you can reason when problems are presented in terms of size or shape or position or other non-verbal, non-numerical forms. Carrying out a logical procedure in your mind is important here.

Abstract Reasoning teams up with the next two tests -- Space Relations and Mechanical Reasoning -- in prediction of success in many kinds of mechanical, technical, and skilled work.

Students scoring high on VR and NA have added confirmation of their college ability if they are also above average on Abstract Reasoning. If VR and NA are high and AR is below average, they usually may rely on the verbal-numerical combination to see them through.

Students scoring rather low on VR but fairly high on AR have evidence of ability to reason in certain ways despite a verbal shortcoming. Vocabulary building, remedial reading, and similar exercises may help strengthen verbal reasoning.

SPACE RELATIONS - How well can you visualize, or form mental pictures of solid objects from looking at flat paper plans? How well can you think in three dimensions?

Space relations measures your ability to visualize and imagine the shape and surfaces of a finished object before it is built. This ability makes some kinds of mathematics easier.

To a person who does poorly on space relations, an architect's plan for a house or an engineer's plans for a bridge or machine might look like nothing but several flat drawings.

Students doing well on SR should have an advantage in work such as drafting, dress designing, and die-making. A machinist or surgeon needs this sense of the forms and positions of things in space. Students planning for careers not requiring college training should consider their SR score in comparison with their other aptitudes in deciding whether to look for jobs (or training courses) that deal with real objects -- large or small, watches or skyscrapers -- rather than with people or with finances, for example.

MECHANICAL REASONING - How easy do you grasp the common principles of physics as you see them in everyday things about you? How well do you understand the laws governing simple appliances, tools and motions?

Students who do well on the Mechanical Reasoning test usually like to find out how things work. They often are better than average in learning how to construct, operate, or repair complicated equipment.

Students who do well on this test but whose VR and NA scores suggest college courses might be difficult, should look into opportunities in high school technical courses, apprentice training, and post-high-school technical institutes. Men in industry who become technicians, shop foreman, and repair specialists tend to be at least average in MR.

SUMMARY

Realize that aptitude tests will not pinpoint for you exactly what your career should be. But, if you and your counselors will study your DAT scores along with other information, you can get answers to some of the general questions you may have.

Information about your aptitudes can start you off on a meaningful study of the various educational programs and occupations you might want to consider. The freedom you have in planning your future places on you the responsibility for realistic thinking about yourself.

Bakersfield Elementary Teachers Association
3118 Palm Street
Bakersfield, California

To Our P.T.A. Friends:

The Bakersfield Elementary Teachers Association is seriously concerned about educational conditions in Bakersfield.

We are concerned that our Board of Education and administration continue to adopt and adhere to salary and personnel procedures which discourage well trained and experienced teachers from seeking employment in the Bakersfield Elementary School District, or remain here as career teachers.

We are concerned with the increasing size of school classes. We know from our experience that small classes mean better learning, and that in large classes, little, if any individual instruction can be given, with a resulting drop in the learning rate.

During this school year the average class size in Bakersfield was 31.9 while the average for similar districts in California was only 29.3. In addition Bakersfield Elementary this year has 208 classes ranging in size from 35 to 45 pupils per class.

We are also concerned that our Board of Education and administration have not complied with either the letter or spirit of state laws pertaining to professional negotiations and school budgeting procedures.

In addition we are concerned with lowering teacher morale, poor staff communications and frequent lack of support in maintaining reasonable pupil discipline.

We ask for your understanding and support. We are anxious and willing to correct these difficulties. We want quality teaching and education in Bakersfield and we ask your support in achieving it.

Daggers Aim To Upset Top Win Raiders

With everything to gain and nothing to lose the East High Daggers, 4-3-1, take on the undefeated South High Raiders, 7-0-1, in what should prove to be quite a battle. The three losses are no indication of the Daggers ability when they are up for a game. South must win or tie in order to win the B Class S.Y.L. Championship. The Daggers know this, and are thinking how sweet it would be to knock the Raiders off of the unbeaten list and out of the championship.

Paced throughout the year with complete team effort, the Daggers to watch offensively are Johnny Defensively you can't miss big number 70, John Torres, an outstanding defensive lineman as well as offensive. Hard-hitting line-backer Mickey Ulmer will also be noticeable.

You know that the Raiders must be a strong team, otherwise they wouldn't have come this far without a loss. They are led by sprinter Roger Sessions and fullback King.

With all of this in mind, this should prove to be a hard-fought game, with perhaps a break being a deciding factor.

Finishing up another rugged football season, the East High Blades have many fine games behind them. Tonight, against the South High Rebels, the Bladesmen enter into their final pigskin competition.

The varsity squad has a season record of two wins, five losses, and one tie with yet one more game to play. Discounting South, East has a league log of 1-3, plus a second place in the Football Carnival.

Good Performers

For individual performance in city competition this season, end Doug Smith of South appears to be the best bet right now in the pass receiving department: 17 catches for 480 yards. But a big night by John Christensen of EB could vault him into lead. Christensen has averaged 29.5 yards in 13 catches while Smith's average is also a very good 28.2.

East's Sterling Endsley and Brent McClanahan of South have good season records for rushing.

Records Similar

In all games played East's season tally of 2-5-1 is matched by the Rebels who also have 2-5-1. In competition with the same rivals, this is the story: East beat Delano and South lost; the Blades tied Porterville, 14-14, while the Rebels won 14-6; the Foothill-South game was a tie, whereas East bowed to the Trojans by one point; both EB and South won over West, but both were trounced by the Bakersfield Drillers. North also downed both of tonight's rivals. If past performance tells the tale, the teams should be quite evenly matched for a good game tonight.

For the taste you never get tired of.
