Foothill Girls, Rebs Extend Tennis Skeins

By TOM SANDRINI

Al McIntosh's South boy netters and Mari Lynn Conley's Foothill girls extended their 1968 non-league records to 4-0 in tennis matches they hosted yesterday afternoon.

On the South courts, the Rebels won the second singles and both doubles matches to edge Frank Thiessen's Wasco unit. The day's closest match pitted host Steve Smith against Tiger Greg Muir. Muir finally prevailed after sets of 7-5, 4-6 and 6-2.

The girls from Troy made it 4-0 at the expense of Bertha Franke's Taft squad, now 1-4 in practice competition. Freshman Peggy Swiers stayed unbeaten thus far by surviving the onslaught of visitor Kathy Bruce in the No. 1 singles, rallying to win, 4-6, 6-4 and 6-4. Alitha Wiebe and Kathy Jeffery added singles wins for the victors.

In Wasco yesterday, South's girls suffered their third setback in four matches by a 3-2 margin. Pacing the Tigress attack were singleton wins by Caroline Collins and Val Peters and the doubles victories by Patty Priest and Pam Miller.

Rebel Spikers Edge Foothill

By PATTI KELLER

The South High track teams travel to Memorial Stadium Thursday afternoon at 3:30 to meet Bakersfield High in the second dual meet for both squads this season. Last week both the Rebels and the Drillers took season opening wins, with South sneaking past the Foothill Trojans, 69-66, and Bakersfield rolling over the North Stars, 88-48.

Starring in the Driller contest was Tulare transfer James Allen, who took firsts in three events. But the Rebels also had their bright moments, with two varsity sprinters breaking school records. Unfortunately, a rather strong wind prevailed, and Ken Jones' 21.5 run in the 220-yard dash was not counted. Fred Contreras did receive credit for running the two-mile in 10:09 although he finished second.

The results of the South-Foothill meet:

South Hi Will Do 'Rainbow'

"The happiest play of the year."

That could be a statement applicable to South High drama students' third production of the school year, "Finian's Rainbow," to be presented the evenings of April 25, 26 and 27 in the campus lecture center.

Broadway critics termed the musical "happy" when it was presented on Broadway a couple of decades ago. It's a comedy about an Irishman, Finian, and his daughter, Sharon. They merely come to the United States to enjoy the lives of millionaires — after they successfully steal a pot of gold from a leprechaun.

More than 75 student actors, actresses, singers, dancers and orchestra members will take part in the R. M. Steinman-directed play. George Carson is musical director, while Robert Douglas and Robert Hodson assist with artistic and stage coordination.

Elizabeth Bailey, a junior, portrays Sharon. Finian is played by Sam Stover, a senior and also student body president. Mike Davis, a sophomore, has a principal role as Woody Mahoney, a union organizer. All three students have had experience in such recent South High-produced plays as "Teahouse of the August Moon" and the "Diary of Anne Frank."

Moderately-priced tickets may be purchased at the student finance office window, or from drama students who are saying that "the production will even be better than the $5 million Hollywood version of 'Rainbow' slated for release later this year."

ONE RADER STILL REMAINS AS SOUTH NINE MAKES TITLE BID

Two Raders are better than one, but at least one Rader is better than none.

Jack Towery, the Casey Stengel of local high school baseball coaches, begins his 11th year as South High mentor without Dave Rader, his three-time all-South Yosemite Leaguer who was drafted No. 1 by the San Francisco Giants, but he still has Dave's younger brother, Bob.

Bob Rader joined his brother on the all-league team last year at second base, and figures to do even better this year as he assumes the team leader role. Bob was the top hitter on the club last season at .380 and Towery plans to bat him third to take advantage of his clutch base knocks.

Towery figures the infield will be South's strong point with Rader and all four of the Rebels' other lettermen being infielders. "They're especially strong defensively," says Towery.

"This should be a rebuilding year for us with a lot of inexperienced boys. Potentially they could be good players and are working hard. It will just depend on how they develop."

Filling the huge hole behind the plate left by Dave Rader will be Gary Pacheco, a junior who was the top hitter on the junior varsity team last year. He will be backed by Don Duckworth, who played infield for the JV's but is being switched to catcher to take advantage of his strong arm.

Another big loss for the Rebels was in the pitching department where the two top hurlers, Bob Pasquini and John Moncier, graduated. Bob Rader pitched only one inning in 1967, but he will be used more this year on the mound. Control is his main weapon.

Towery is expecting big things from little lefthander Craig Thomas, the leading pitcher on the junior varsity. "He has a good curve ball and knows what he is doing on the mound." A pair of JV righthanders, Barry Phillips and Blake Green, will have to supply the pitching depth.

Veteran first baseman Gary Plotner is not too much of a hitter, but can tag the long ball. Towery says he is probably the best fielding first baseman in the South Yosemite League.

Last year's regular shortstop, Dirk Van Pelt, has been moved to centerfield, giving the job to JV man Kenny Hall, who Towery figures will give South a good double play combination.

Eugene Walker returns at third base where he hit .275 last year. Walker is being pushed by JV graduate Rube Rivera.

Flanking Van Pelt, who was switched to take advantage of his speed, in leftfield is Brent McClanahan, whose hitting is a question mark. He will be backed by Bill Bess while Steve MacAbee is Van Pelt's ~~reiner~~ in center.

Towery will have a couple of seniors in rightfield, but both are out for the first time. Dennis Brothers has the inside track because of his long ball threat with help coming from John Otterness.

Brian Lewis, graduate of the class of '65, obviously hasn't seen his favorite Spanish teacher, Mr. Bob Gabbitas, in a long time. Recently home on 30 days leave, Brian has had two trips to Vietnam, the first for 13 months. He then volunteered for five more months, and just yesterday left for another six months of voluntary service. Brian's present rank is Specialist, 5th class, and he works in the intelligence division of the army. Why does he keep volunteering to return to Vietnam? "I like what I'm doing!"

A Look at South High For the Moms and Dads Of Next Year's Frosh

Who has the biggest flutters about embarking on a high school career—the wide-eyed eighth graders or their apprehensive parents? Often times it's the parents who do the worrying while their offspring gleefully anticipate moving up into the "big time."

To ease the fears of Moms and Dads who fret about their little ones facing the "tough" high school world, a special parents orientation program has been scheduled tonight for 7:30.

The meeting is for the parents of eighth graders.

A general session in the lecture center is being planned, followed by small group meetings in the cafeteria to give parents the opportunity to ask questions and to discuss specifics. The counseling staff will be on hand to direct and answer questions.

The orientation program has been scheduled prior to the time that eighth graders must register for their freshman classes, so that parents can get a definite understanding of such things as levels and courses of study. Hopefully, parents will then be ready to cope when next fall rolls around and the high school merry-go-round gets in high gear.

Follies Friday Night To Feature Teachers

Mrs. Pat Slagle is just one of the teachers and parents slated to thrill the masses at the second annual PTA follies tomorrow night in the lecture center. Here the popular girls' PE teacher "clowns" it up with a clown costume she'll wear for the performance.

By THEA MOSS

It might be a bit of a shock to see one's venerable instructors or stern parents prancing about in some ridiculous get-up on the lecture center stage. However, brace yourselves, for it is highly possible. Anything goes at the PTA Follies scheduled for tomorrow night at 8.

According to organizer Mrs. Janice Hayslett, this ten-act variety show will be all "non-professional" with entertainers from the faculty, parents, and friends of South High. The purpose of the show is to raise money for the banquet fund sponsored by the PTA.

One of the highlights of the performance will undoubtedly be the debut of the men's ballet corps. Several students will see their daddies transformed into "accomplished" prima donnas.

The ladies will not be out-done.

Musicians Travel Tomorrow

Between two and three hundred South High musicians will head for Bakersfield High tomorrow for the annual Kern County Music Festival, an affair which will last all day, with acapella choir competition and rating tomorrow evening. Participants will be the Rebel Choir, Rebel Band, Rebel Orchestra, Advanced Girls' Glee, Beginning Girls' Glee, and Boys' Glee.

Each group will receive both constructive criticisms and a rating, ranging from outstanding to poor. Traditionally, South's representatives are tops at this festival. Almost without fail, the Advanced Glee and Concert Choir have come out with the high outstanding ratings; the Band and Orchestra usually come pretty close, with excellent ratings.

Mr. George Carson, Rebel Choir director and music division chairman, is the chairman of this year's festival. He will direct the vocal groups as Mr. John Briscoe will lead the Rebel Band, and Mr. Ed Parks, in his first year at South High, will direct the Orchestra.

A solo and ensemble festival will be held later this spring for individual and small groups in both vocal and instrumental music at a similar festival at Bakersfield College.

Tardies, Absentees Exec Board Problem

The all-mighty executive board has its problems. One of the most embarrassing is that some members are consistently late and/or absent. Recently, the names of each late and absent member has been printed in the board minutes. Needless to say, attendance and promptness are picking up.

A note of interest; according to dean of student activities Ron Fontaine, exec board secretary Sally Varner has neither been late nor absent from a meeting since she took office last spring.

Sirocco Now in Need Of Editors and Writers

Their spy glasses are out and an editor for the annual literary magazine, Sirocco, is being hunted down. Mr. Fred Hamilton and co-advisor Mr. Kenneth Kantor are leading the hunt for English students with at least a B average who are interested in compiling and editing the Sirocco.

Co-advisor of the literary magazine, Sirocco, is Mr. Kenneth Kantor.

Original short stories, poetry, essays, and possibly plays written by South High students will be enhanced by creative works of art, also donated by students. Works submitted through any English teacher will be considered for the Sirocco, which will be available near the end of this school year.

BRAINS MAY SERVE

The old ideas that "brains" don't contribute to the student body is definitely on its way out. Another opportunity for those with "smarts" to contribute has been offered by KAFY radio station. A monthly contest is being held. Students are invited to call in their homework questions, and the school that answers the most questions in that period will receive a free expenses-paid activity. For example, the student body could request an expense-free dance, with KAFY furnishing the band and refreshments, and the student body gaining the profits.

Frogs are dissected, chemicals are measured and combined, and chemical equations are analyzed as students in South High's science division learn what makes the world tick. Experimentation has been a growing means of scientific education allowing the student to use the principles in the text.

Experimentation in the junior and senior level science classes, chemistry and physics, respectively, are tightly scheduled to allow for specific experiments with each principle taught. With such rigid programming, little deviation is found from one year to the next in curriculum. However, senior physics students have found the "Waves on a Coil Spring" and "Pulses in a Ripple Tank" experiments different and enjoyable.

Senior Paul Graves discovered that if the wave demonstration kit (slinky) wasn't held together closely, entanglement resulted. Side-stepping the scientific aspects of what occurs when a wave on a large coil collides with a wave on a small coil, Daniel Beene, Vickie Lukens, Suzie Heinrichs, and Dan Wardlow tried jumping rope with the slinky only to find it too stretchy.

"Pulses in a Ripple Tank" was performed in a glorified bird bath. A wooden-framed pane of glass rested atop supporting legs, as physics students investigated the properties of waves in water as circular waves struck a straight barrier or passed through an opening in the barrier. Leaky tanks and shock from the overhead light were the only dangers. However, when Marta Nave's ripple tank lost a leg, she was drenched.

Ripples and Peanuts Intrigue the Curious

By SUSAN EDWARDS

Science teacher Mr. James Peck may seem to be more like a mad scientist, but he's actually trying to get into the mood of things (from behind him stares the inimitable Albert Einstein). Seriously, South's science division is one of the best—and it just keeps on progressing toward the ideal of being the very best.

Walnuts and peanuts were roasted recently, not for eating, but for determining their calorie value in some of Mr. Clyde Klingler's sophomore biology classes. Students constructed their own calorimeters by fitting a test tube of water with a thermometer in an old soda pop can over the food being burned.

By measuring the heat-producing ability in particular foods, biology students could thus see for themselves why one food would provide more energy than another. Such an experiment could also be profitable in a physical science class when testing accuracy of measurement, or a home economics class for analyzation of food values.

College prep biology students have the inevitable dissections to experience this semester. The ascaris, earthworm, grasshopper, and crawfish will all be subjected to the groans of fainting females, as will frogs, living and dead, and a few fetal pigs.

Freshmen physical science students also learn through practical use. Working with zinc and sulphur, they observe double displacement in molecules. Accuracy of reading measurements is tested when studying electric circuits as the freshmen learn to read voltmeters and ohmmeters.

In the future Mr. Merle Wood, science division chairman, would like to interest some physical science students in building a ham radio or an FM receiving station. However, with the pre-programmed curriculum such projects would have to be instigated outside of class.

South Baseball Team Winless in Five Starts

By DAN BEENE

The South High baseball nine will take a 0-5 record into its opening South Yosemite League game Friday after dropping a pair to Porterville and Antelope Valley over the weekend.

South was edged by Porterville, 2-1, on the Rebel diamond Friday before being routed by Antelope Valley, 19-0, in Lancaster Saturday.

Although he lost to the Panthers, freshman Byron Tibbs probably earned himself a starting nod Friday when the Rebs host Foothill in the SYL opener. Tibbs struck out six, including five in the first two innings, and pitched a six-hitter.

Both Porterville runs came in the fifth inning when Jerry Hays tripled to score Bob Purkiss, who had singled, and winning pitcher John Partino, who had walked.

South's only tally came in the seventh when Dirk Van Pelt walked and went to third on a hit by Eugene Walker. Barry Phillips' single drove in Van Pelt, but the Rebel rally fell short.

South was in contention against Antelope Valley until the fifth inning when the roof caved in on starting hurler Phillips. The Antelopes picked up two runs in the third, but then exploded for nine runs in the fifth and eight more in the sixth.

Bill Slaton, AV's regular catcher who shutout Bakersfield High in an earlier game, did the same to the Rebels on a six-hitter. Slaton and Bob Schwensen contributed home runs to the Antelope attack while John Bocrolle had three hits. Jerry Mason had two base raps for South.

South's junior varsity team also tasted two defeats, 6-5, to Porterville and, 9-4, to Antelope Valley. The South freshman salvaged one game, beating AV, 2-0, after losing to Porterville, 4-0.

Dear Faculty,

The senior homemaking class is spending a semester studying child development from the pre-natal period through five years. In order to become even more understanding of children and their physical, social and emotional development, the girls are going to set up a simulated nursery from April 29 until May 24. This is where you come in. We need about ten children in order to have a nursery school. They should be between  $3\frac{1}{2}$  and 5 years old, and not too afraid to be away from mother or baby sitter for about an hour. The children should also be toilet trained during the day.

The class itself is eighth period (2:10-3:05) and we would like to have the children three days a week (Tues., Wed., and Thurs.). During this short time the children would have free play, art activities, music activities and a snack.

If you are interested in having your preschooler or even a neighbor's preschooler participate in this experiment in learning, please contact Helen Jones in E-42 or E-44 or by phone at home (325-4256). It will be a very enriching experience for all involved--children, students and teacher.

Thank You,

Mrs. Jones

WHO'S GONNA RUN?

Plenty of Competition For Hopefuls

Ricky Lee, Debbie Shell, and Danny Hill, all reportedly hopeful of gaining nomination for ASB offices in next month's convention, symbolize their desires by throwing "their hats into the political arena." Ricky has a Rebel beanie, Debbie, her tennis hat, and Danny has an old Rebelette discard.

With the ASB nominating convention looming up on April 29, the question carrying the most weight on campus has changed from "Why are the restrooms always locked?" to "Who's gonna run for president?"

There are many hopefuls worth watching this year. At the top of

QUARTET SENIORS
STEAL BANK AWARDS

The four plaque winners in the annual Bank of America Achievement Awards program have been selected, according to Mr. Cecil Briscoe, scholarship chairman and dean of boys.

They are Susan Edwards, winner in the general field of vocational arts; Ethel Wimsett, winner in fine arts; Steve Smith, winner in science and mathematics; and Macchi Schmidt, winner in liberal arts.

The four seniors now will have their transcripts and activity records sent to a selection committee which will determine eligibility of zone candidates to later appear for interview. Cash awards and the selection of final contest winners are made as a result of the zone selection event.

Certificate winners, not eligible for further competition, were also named. They are Sylvia Gary, Sally Parker, Sheree Hale, Rick Short, Shirley Zentmire, Vickie Lukens, and Ken Jones.

DON'T LET PERMANENT FILES CHILL YOU:
THAT SCHOOL RECORD COULD LAND A JOB

By THEA MOSS

The words "permanent file records" might bring a chill down the spines of many students, especially those who engage in "activities" they would rather not have put down in black and white. Nevertheless, that record file is a necessary "evil" and it serves useful purposes.

Counselor Mr. Jim Riley discusses a permanent record with Mrs. Carolyn Mueller, attendance secretary.

Miss Jeannine Thompson, dean of girls, describes the record as the sum total of a student's performance in high school including attendance, grades, test scores, activities, personality traits and rank in class. Along with these is a record of test grades received by students in the eighth grade.

The file, said Miss Thompson, provides information useful in job recommendations and investigations. Any person applying for secret work can expect to have his high school record investigated. "Uncle Sam" frequently requests information about prospective

The top contender for commissioner of finance is Rick Turri; for public relations, it's Laurie Marin and Thea Moss; for girls' athletics it is Diane Lidgett and Debbie Shell; for boys' activities, Brent McClanahan, Ellis Gupton, and Richard English; commissioner of rallies it is Debbie Stearns; secretary, Waltina Rowe and Nancy Green; and vice president hopeful is Ricky Lee.

Also said to be running for future offices in the ASB are Brenda Palla and Rick Wilkinson.

These people in all likelihood will be prominent in the pre-convention excitement along with some others who, as yet, haven't revealed themselves. The entire list of names will be made known before the delegate votes are cast in the moment of truth in the electric atmosphere of the boys' gym just about a month from now.

soldiers. According to Miss Thompson, a "surprising number" of employers do too, especially the telephone company. Organizations such as the Peace Corps and Vista also conduct investigations of applicants.

The areas employers are most concerned with are dependability, initiative, attendance, and the ability to get along with other people. Some want to know how many times a student doesn't quite make it to class on time.

In one case, General Electric made inquiries to verify information given to them by a former South High student, just to make sure he hadn't added or subtracted any vital details.

There is no need for the student to worry that information is given to every Joe Blow who rings up the office—it isn't. Nor is there need for him to fret that every sordid detail of his dark past will be revealed.

Information is given on the judgment and discretion of a student's counselor.

Counselors maintain the permanent records for their students. Those individuals who seldom have the pleasure of their counselors' company shouldn't feel neglected—vital information can always be obtained from teachers.

Clothes Collectors

The latest thing in fashion is to donate unwanted clothes to a worthy cause. One of the service projects of the Girls' Athletic Association for this year is a clothing drive. Members of GAA ask that remaining clothing to be donated be brought to advisory today or tomorrow. It will be collected during advisory.

Fifty to Participate
In Finian's Rainbow

Elizabeth Bailey, Mike Davis and Sam Stover were named as principal leads in the spring musical, "Finian's Rainbow," slated for April production in the campus lecture center.

The cast of more than 50 was announced by Mr. Ronald Steinman, drama instructor and director of the play.

Elizabeth will play the part of Sharon, Davis will portray the role of Woody, and Stover will portray Finian.

Other students having important roles include Stephen Fidler, Georgia Bookout, Tom Bailey, David Reaney, Steve Lehner, Jan Kirsch, Birchard Denny, Lorri Peterson, Tom Neece and Bruce Haar.

Others in the play include Kathy Balch, Sheryl Shaw, Jean Henslee, Kris Bower, Barbara Leonard, Randy Overstreet, Bob Calton, Jon Serrano, Lyn Albert, Vickie Brown, Shannon Carter, Linda Murray, Daniel Reaney and Patt Vengarick.

Dancers include Jackie Davis, Tempie Devers, Eleanor Gragg, Helen Lang, Paula Meyer, Sue Overstreet, Jeri Patterson, Glenda Rogers and Jill Schneider.

Chorus members include Terrie Garrett, Sindie Angerth, Carola Buddeberg, Susan Stuart, Linda Dabbs, Lynn Phillely, David Clyde, Robert Wheaton, Mario Chiuppi, Ron Canfield, Ken Porter and Alan Shorr.

Russians Diane Garcia and Shirley Darnell (making up a small part of the foreign dancers slated to assemble on the lecture center stage) survey the situation for the dance concert to be presented by the Rebelettes at 8 p.m., April 4. The story of Billy the Kid and weird dances are also scheduled.

OPEN DAY ON OILY OINKERS

FFA Pig Pursuit Soon

Once again squealing pigs and kids will invade the football field when the Future Farmers stage another greased pig contest on Friday, March 29.

Each advisory may enter two teams composed of two students, reported Mr. Don Schuett, FFA advisor. Girl, boy, and combination teams will all be legal. The entry fee will be $1 per team.

The objective in the contest is for team members to get hold of their pig (weighing approximately 50-75 pounds) and hoist him back into a pen that will be set up on the field. The team that successfully completes this in the shortest time is declared the winner.

It sounds simple enough, but one must take into consideration that those pigs are seldom very cooperative. As Mr. Schuett said, "The little pigs run faster, and bigger ones are harder to hang on to."

Above all, pigs that have been liberally covered with grease generally make formidable opponents. The battle often results with would-be-pig-catchers sprawled all over the field, as last year's contest proved.

Perpetual trophies will be presented to the top frosh, sophomore, junior, and senior advisories. Among others, Mario Chiuppi was a champion pig catcher last year and his advisory was one of the first to receive one of the four trophies. General admission to this event will be 25 cents.

This little piggy is too small to be greased up for the pig contest, but FFA officer Brent McClanahan assures one and all that other pigs will be on hand which are bigger but just as loveable.

Trojans Walk to Win Over South in SYL Opener

By DAN BEENE

Three walks by South freshman pitcher Byron Tibbs in the eighth inning gave Foothill the winning run in a 3-2 victory over the Trojans on the Reb diamond yesterday.

It was the opening South Yosemite League game for both teams. Foothill will host Bakersfield, also victorious yesterday, Tuesday, while South will be at East on the same day.

Tibbs had pitched an excellent game for the Rebels, now 0-6 for the year, until he lost control in the first extra inning. Winning pitcher Harvey Ivey led off with a single before three straight free passes forced home the winning run.

Ivey pitched shutout ball for the Trojans after giving up two runs in the first frame on singles by Bobby Rader and Kenny Hall, an error and a two-run base hit to centerfield by Gary Pacheco.

The Trojans tied it up in the fifth with the help of two Rebel errors. John Duran's single was the only safety of the inning off Tibbs, who pitched a four-hitter. The second run came across when catcher Rader dropped the ball on a force play at the plate.

Ivey, who hurled seven-hit ball, had to really bear down in the bottom of the seventh when Dirk Van Pelt led off with a triple. Ivey then proceeded to strike out two batters and force the other to pop out.

South won the junior varsity game, 6-1, and the frosh tilt, 9-5.

Reb Spikers Score 102 Against North

By PATTI KELLER

For the first time in its 10-year history, the South High track team went over the 100-point mark yesterday afternoon when it literally burned out the North High Stars with a lopsided 102-33 victory in a dual meet on the Confederate field.

As a matter of fact, the Southern thinclads stole all three class contests, with an ample 87-34 win in class C competition and a narrow, last-event edge of 57½-55½ in the class B contest.

The Rebels swept all but two of the varsity events, the mile run and the high jump, but had only one dual winner. Doug Smith, last year's league champion in the low hurdles, took both the 120 high hurdles and the triple jump.

North's Ricky Hitchcock continued his fine mile times with a clocking of 4:27.8. The Stars' only other win came in the high jump when Steve Clark leaped 6-0. South sprint star Ken Jones turned in an excellent 22.4 220 time.

South's next track action will be Friday when the Rebs travel to West. Foothill will be at North the same day.

The class B Raiders also left the field in glory, taking first in 11 of 14 events. Neither team had more than single winners.

The class C contest was the closest of the afternoon, as North led, 55½-52½, as the teams went into the final 440 relay event. Due to a bad baton pass-off on the part of the Twinks, and a good last jaunt by Rider anchorman Robbie Foster, the South team gained the final five points needed to edge their opponents.

Foster was a double victor for the Riders, scoring first in the 180 and the shotput. North C classers Bill McClure and Don Friesen also joined the dual winners columns.

The results:

High School Trustees Okay Additions for Five Campuses

The battle to keep pace with rising school enrollments continues in the Kern County Union High School District with announcement that plans for building additions on five campuses have gained approval by district trustees.

Board members Thursday sanctioned preliminary plans for additions at Burroughs and South high schools and working drawings for construction at the Kern Valley and North high schools. Also approved were final plans and specifications, authorization to advertise for bids and adoption of a wage scale for a locker shelter project on the East Bakersfield High School campus.

The building program, expected to get under way this year at all the district's 11 regular day schools, is the result of citizen recommendations and subsequent voter approval last October of a bond issue totaling $8,360,000. Passage assures construction of classrooms and related facilities in all district schools.

Regular day high schools of the district are Arvin, Bakersfield, East Bakersfield, Foothill, Kern Valley, McFarland, Shafter, Burroughs, North, South and West. Their combined enrollment, totaling nearly 19,000, is expected to zoom to 22,000 in the next seven years.

Reduction in the number of "traveling teachers" — instructors forced to move from building to building due to classroom shortage — also is expected.

District Research Director Harry J. Ward outlined Burroughs and South High building plans. Slated for Burroughs is an octagon structure containing eight classrooms and a teachers' workroom, plus remodeling and placement of science facilities in one area which will result in an additional science classroom.

A maintenance shop and storage area will replace the existing structure which ultimately will be converted into a shop room at the Ridgecrest campus. A lecture center and lunch room addition scheduled for construction will, through technical problems, be postponed for possibly a year.

Additions at South High School will include a hexagon building containing six classrooms and teachers' work room, redesigning and expansion of library facilities, a classroom adjoining the photography lab and two science storage rooms.

Estimated cost of the Burroughs and South undertakings is within the budgeted figure contained in the bond issue, Ward told trustees.

Next step is approval of detailed working drawings by trustees and the State Division of Architecture. Advertisement of bids for construction will follow. The Kern Valley working drawings call for four standard classrooms, a biological science classroom and an arts and crafts room. A library complex will combine a reading and stack room, conference room, an area for textbook storage and processing, audio-visual preview room and office.

North High School working drawings currently are concentrated on additions to the administration building which officials hope may be completed during the coming summer to avoid interference with the heavy fall schedule. Ward said the additional administrative space sorely is needed at North because plant facilities soon will be expanded from the present 1,800 student capacity to 2,000.

The locker shelter project will provide approximately 920 student book lockers on the East campus with construction scheduled to begin sometime next month.

Architects working closely with school officials on the building additions are William Thomas, Burroughs; Francis Parsons, Kern Valley; Ernest McCoy, South; and Bart Alford, East and North.

Blades Top Rebels to Keep Pace

By RON NIKKEL

Walt Napier's East High Blades (2-0) remained in a first place tie with Foothill yesterday, scoring a 5-2 win over South (0-2), on the Blade diamond. The Blades' Bob Ponte and Rick Williams limited the Rebels to two hits in seven innings while the Blades collected five safeties.

The Blades will try to remain undefeated in South Yosemite League play on Friday when they travel across town to meet arch-rival Bakersfield High. The contest will be played on the 2nd and P Street diamond at 3:30.

The East nine scored three runs in the bottom half of the third to take a 4-0 lead. Randy Hamm reached first on an error. Larry Hill singled to left, and Harry Seeger scored Hamm with a line-drive double that bounced over the centerfield fence. After Danny Morin legged out an infield single, David Mireless walked, driving in Hill. Pitcher Ponte then helped himself with a fly ball to score Morin.

The Rebels came back to make it a 4-2 game in the fourth on an error, a base on balls, two wild pitches by Ponte and a single by Eugene Walker to drive in their two runs.

East posted its final run of the contest in the sixth inning. Smith singled after two outs and consecutive walks to Hamm, Hill and Seeger forced the run across.

The Rebels had a great deal of trouble getting the ball over the plate during the afternoon. Four South High pitchers allowed nine base on balls and hit one batter. Wildness by Rebel starter Barry Phillips gave the Blades a gift run in the first, as he walked Smith, Hamm, Hill and Seeger. Ponte and Williams walked but two and struck out a total of seven Rebels.

Seeger was the most productive hitter for the Blades. The first baseman rapped a double, walked twice and had three RBI's.

East also won the JV contest, by 5-4. John Sawyer had a hand in all of the EB runs as he ripped two doubles, scored three times and had two RBI's. East made it a clean sweep for the day as its freshmen defeated South, 8-3.

Who's that sneakin' round the corner? Not Mack the Knife, and not really Russian Cossack beauties, although they may look like them. They are Diane Garcia and Shirley Darnell, both senior members of South High School's girls' drill team, the Rebelettes. The 84-girl team will stage a dance show featuring dances from all over the world, including Czarist Russia, at 8 o'clock tonight in the campus lecture center. Tickets are available at the box office and the public is invited.
